Learning in the Moment; Give Leaders a Taste of the C-Suite and the Path to Get There

Leaders step into a faux high-stakes boardroom environment and are cast as a newly appointed director team with breakout zones for differing departments. They are given a surprise business challenge that unfolds in real time.

On-demand Workshops, Made for Your Organization.

Schedule your custom workshop and make time for leveling up your leadership team.

Step 1: Briefing

Participants step into the role of a newly appointed director group. They receive a high-level briefing that sets the stage for a complex, fast-moving business challenge. From the start, every decision, interaction, and communication will be under the spotlight.

Step 2: Live Simulation with Curveballs

Teams face a realistic scenario with live disruptions and competing priorities, including urgent investor demands and shifting executive expectations. Leaders must balance inclusion, communication, and decisiveness in real time.

Step 3: Boardroom Presentations

Each team delivers their strategy to a simulated Board of Directors. Presentations are met with candid feedback on how well they influenced, inspired, and earned credibility with decision-makers.

Step 4: Debrief and Reflection

Facilitators lead participants in a structured reflection on team dynamics and decision-making. Each leader gains valuable insights and practical development steps for immediate application and ongoing practice.

Enhance your organizational performance by investing in a real-world scenario for leaders to test their executive presence and discover how they can further develop it. Leaders will not forget their time in the C-Suite.
